Reno for Rio Bonito.

All willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte County, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get into the land in the best part of California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity. —C. S. YOUNG.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the tubes and all the tubes and vessels that serve them.

When these are clogged and choked with mucus which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot have their work. And when they cannot have their work, they do not do well. Cough it cold, cough, cough, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose diseases and bronchitis, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take some one's golden syrup. When you have fever, then you can't even a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon.

WOULD YOU LIKE A NEW NOSE?

A Boston Surgeon Who Makes Nasal Organs of Any Shape to Order.

There can be no greater deformity than the loss of one's nose. Any kind of an organ, whether pug, turned up or flat, is preferable to an unformed nose one.

In olden times, men and women who were so unfortunate as to lose their member, had to get on as best they might, but the individuals of great substance could provide themselves with artificial ones of ivory, gold or silver, usually enameled, and of flesh color. These substitutes were, of course, awkward and uncomfortable, but the victims endured them because they concealed, or were thought to conceal, their loss.

In later days surgery came to the aid of the noseless, and what is called plastic surgery, or Taliotean operations were performed. These consist in taking adjacent pieces of skin, and twisting and turning them to unite with the freshly cut edges of the remnant of the original nose. Plugs of cotton and quills through which to breathe form the nostrils, and the result is a new nose, but of a puffy-like appearance, as it has no bridge. Such a nose, as everybody knows, is better than no nose at all, but the new ones of surgery were by no means beautiful.

But a wonderful revolution in the restoring of that most useful and ornamental organ has within a month or two taken place in this city, which so far as is known, is the first of the kind in the United States. Dr. H. D. Burrell, surgeon of the City and Carney hospitals, it is who has made the discovery in the way of furnishing a bridge for the nose.

At the time spoken of above, an otherwise fine looking woman from one of the thriving towns of the state, with a not at all pleasant apology for a nose, applied to Dr. Burrell for relief. Her deformity was such that she was compelled to live a most secluded life, rarely going out, save at night for needed exercise.

It occurred to Dr. Burrell that an improvement might be made on previous operations, and that, by adding a properly shaped piece of bone from a living animal, a natural looking nose could be made. An appointment was given the woman at Dr. Burrell's office, and the operation was performed by cutting out the side of the mutilated member and turning it completely over.

A young chicken was then killed, and a piece of the breast bone of proper shape united to the root of the nose on the skull by silver wires. Then the flesh of the old nose was properly stretched over the bone and secured by ligatures. Tampons of cotton were put in to give the nostrils the proper shape.

The new bone became properly united with its attachment, the wound healed, and the operation thus far, is a perfect success. The patient has now a fine Roman nose, and the only scar is a very imperceptible line at one side of the newly made organ. —Boston Herald.

BITTEN BY A RATTLESNAKE.

The Luxury of Being Dosed with the Most Approved Antidote to the Poisen.

A correspondence writing from Hawley, Penn., reports a backwoods resident as saying:

"They tell a story about a tough old bushwacker who lived down back of Schatt's Pond. Life had little charm for him when whiskey was scarce."

"Once he had been for several days in bad luck. He had been unable to buy a drink of his favorite tipple, and none of his neighbors was inclined to satisfy his longing for a nip."

"One day he was picking huckleberries, which he intended to exchange for whiskey, when he was bitten on the hand by a rattlesnake. He was a mile or so from a neighbor's who he knew had a fair-sized gun which was generally well stocked."

"The old sonk dropped his berry pall and flew across the barren to the house. He dashed through the door, and clapping his hands shouted:

"Glory hallelujah, Abe! I'm bit by a rattlesnake! Open the jug and fill me!"

"Abe was scared, and in less than five minutes the snake-bitten bushwacker had a quart of whiskey under his shirt. The snake bite never bothered him, but in the course of a couple of weeks he was way down on his luck again."

"Then he thought he would catch a mess of pickeral, and see what he could do with them for exchange for something else. He longed for more than for fish. While he was on his way to the pond a man who lived near by saw him stealing cautiously along an old road. The man went out and got close to the old timer without the latter having discovered him.

"What was the man's alarm to see a big rattlesnake coiled in the road, ready to spring, and the bushwacker almost within reach of it. The man sprang upon the snake with his heavy boots and smashed its head. The old timer jumped back and whined:

"Now, what'd ye go an' do that fer?"

"Why," replied the man who had killed the snake, "that rattle would have had his fangs in you in ten seconds more!"

"I know it," whined the old bushwacker. "But don't ye know I'm plinnin' for whiskey?"

The Homely Waiter Girl.

"Come, Ned, let's take this table over here."

"No, no, old man, come down in the corner there, furthest from the door."

"But look here, Ned, just see the table girl over here. Isn't she a daisy? She's the prettiest one in the place. I don't want to go down there to be waited on by that old chrome."

"There, there, my boy; you just stop your nonsense and come along with me. I've been grubbing at restaurants too long to be fooled by any such talk as that. If you want to flit you can get a prettier girl outside. If you want to eat you come here and pick out the homely waiter. The waiter girl who is pretty doesn't have time to do anything else. It's the homely girl who brings your order straight and gets you your dinner hot every single time."

Perhaps Personal.

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
Of Indiana.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON,
Of New York.

THURSDAY JULY 5, 1888

If there is anything in heredity, in the old saying that "blood will tell," General Harrison's campaign will be an easy one. The name of his family, says an exchange, has an honored place upon every important page in the history of this country. His great grandfather, Benjamin Harrison of Virginia, was a member of the House of Burgesses, and later of the Colonial Congress. He bore an active part in the patriotic movements of the Revolutionary period; was a signer of the immortal Declaration of Independence, was three times elected Governor of Virginia and was a member of the Convention which ratified the Constitution. His grandfather was the famous General William Henry Harrison of Tecumseh and Tippecanoe fame, who won renown alike as soldier and statesman and was elected President of the United States in 1840. The Republican candidate entered upon the serious business of life with health and a good education for capital. His rise to his present honorable position is due to no factitious circumstances, but is the result solely of his own industry and ability. In the war of the Rebellion he was a volunteer and rose by skill, courage and gallantry, to the position of Brigadier-General. In 1830 he was sent by his State to the United States Senate where he served with honor and distinction. The history of the Democratic nominee offers some few particulars for comparison. Going back no further than the war, it is not known that he uttered one opinion recorded or worthy of record upon that or any other momentous question. His sympathies, if he had any, are a matter of speculation. It is known that he evaded and avoided military service in the cause of the Union and when finally drafted that he put a substitute into the ranks, which substitute he afterwards knowingly permitted to die in the army. His acts as President indicate no policy of government except that of free trade, his diplomatic relations with foreign powers have subjected the nation to contempt and ridicule; his political leanings and preferences have always been toward the solid South, and the selection of Lamar and Fuller are grave warnings of what another four years of his dominion would mean to the country. In only one direction has Cleveland grown—one side of his character he has exposed to public gaze—that is his eager thirst for office and his unscrupulous dealing with the high powers and prerogatives of his position to attain his ends.

The San Francisco Examiner has with a craft and cunning exquisitely childlike undertaken an agitation of the Chinese evil, joining with it a disingenuous and false attack upon Mr. Harrison. It seems never to have occurred to that journal that the party which it represents claims to have settled the Chinese question by wise and able statesmanship and legislation, and thus to have rendered it a dead issue, and likewise it seems never to have found a working place in the gray, granular matter of the Examiner's thinker, that if it be a dead issue the responsibility and blame lies with the Democratic party which now for over three years have had fuller swing in governmental affairs than had the Republicans in the last twenty. Why have not Cleveland and his party fulfilled their promises to settle the vexatious question? Or if it be settled as the Democratic platform asserts, why any need or what the object of this excitement?

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has been officially notified of his re-nomination and has formally accepted it. One reads his speech of acceptance in vain to find any declaration of a change of opinion as to the views expressed in his letter of 1884, wherein he asserts that the greatest evil which threatened the country was the eligibility of the President to the nomination which he has so swiftly accepted. Contrasting Cleveland's position and utterances, his abuse of office, his violated civil service pledges, his greed for re-nomination, with the course and conduct of the much maligned Blaine, and in candor, manliness and fair dealing, the defeated Republican candidate shines out beside the sun beside the penny candle. But it is not the best men who are always chosen.

It is believed that after a definite understanding with Russia has been established the Emperor of Germany will propose to the European Powers to reduce their armaments.

grave fears felt for the patient's safety.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 3.—Dr. O'Reilly, one of the physicians in charge of General Sheridan, has just telegraphed here from the Delaware Breakwater for Dr. Pepper to come at once by special train to Cape May Landing, where he will be met by the Government tugboat and carried to General Sheridan on board the steamer lying at anchor at the Delaware Breakwater. Dr. Pepper left at 11:25 tonight. No details of General Sheridan's condition are given, but the gravest fears are felt for his safety.

A Leg Shot Off.

ALBANY, N.Y., July 3.—About 2 o'clock this afternoon, on the McConnell place, near this city, Charles Dougherty and Fred Davis, a young man who lives near Scio, and who was working for Dougherty, were fooling with an old gun. The hammer accidentally struck the edge of a box, and the gun, a musket, was discharged, the full load of shot entering one of Davis' legs, almost shooting it entirely away. Medical aid was summoned and the leg will be amputated. It is thought the young man will recover.

Canadian Prohibitionists.

MONTREAL, July 4.—The National Prohibition Convention opened here today, there being 200 delegates present. Most of the day was occupied in discussing the question whether the Scott Temperance Act, which met with so many defeats in Ontario recently, was a success or a failure. Several resolutions were offered expressing confidence in the Scott Act, in favor of more advanced legislation than the Scott Act, and in favor of the formation of a third political party. All were referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

A "Quies" Marriage.

BRIDGETON, N.J., July 5.—There is a good deal of talk here over the marriage of Principal Alfred B. Ames of the Third ward public school to Miss Mary Pedrick, a sixteen-year-old pupil who graduated from the school the other day. The Principal is a bright young man of twenty-five years. The girl's parents had refused to allow him to address her as she was too young. Time moved too slow for them. They were quietly married by a Justice of the Peace, and are now on a trip to Massachusetts.

Stage Robbers Make a Haul.

NEVADA, July 3.—The Hildreth stage was robbed yesterday morning on the way to Madera by three masked men, who stepped from behind a rock, presented a shotgun at the driver and made him throw out the box and a sack of bullion said to contain $10,500. The officers are warned, and their capture is almost certain.

Gardner "Not Guilty."

TACOMA, W.T., July 4.—A verdict in the case of E. A. Gardner, ex-Chief Inspector of Customs of Puget Sound district, tried for conspiracy with Inspector Chester L. Terry in smuggling opium, was brought into court Saturday night sealed. It was opened by Justice Young for violating the town ordinance relating to fast driving.

The management of McKissick's Opera House have arranged a new schedule of rates of admission for the Bower's engagement, which commences to tomorrow night. The members of the Reno Guards were very hospitably entertained by Co. A, National Guard of Virginia yesterday, whose guests they were. An elaborate collation had been prepared for them, and everything was done by their hosts to make the visit as pleasant as possible. Our boys are profuse in their praise of the manner in which they were entertained, and will not be content until an opportunity presents itself to "play again."

The McKissick Opera House band surprised the Comstockers yesterday. It was by far the best band in the parades, and unstinted praise was awarded them by their appreciative listeners. Shortly before the train left Virginia the band gathered in front of the International hotel and rendered a classic selection in excellent style, which was received with vociferous applause by a large audience, who, like Oliver Twist, cried for more. The band certainly made a "ten strike" yesterday, and Reno should be proud of it.

Several hundred Renoites attended the O. D. Fellow's picnic at Carson yesterday. They report having had a pleasant time.

D. W. Balch, the well-known assayer of Virginia City and one of the original projectors of the N. & C. railroad, went to San Francisco Tuesday night.

William Tobin, advance agent of Decker's Minstrels, was in town this morning making arrangements for the appearance of his troupe here on the 11th inst.

Bob Parry of the Depot hotel was one of the aids at the Virginia City celebration yesterday. He sat horse-like a Centaur as long as it remained quiet, but when it took a notion to trot—Oh, Lord!

William Ferris, Ed. Crane and A. Hundley were too patriotic yesterday and awoke this morning to find themselves in jail. The two first named were released on bail and the latter paid $10 for his fun.

John R. Kirtell of Modesto, California, arrived in Reno this morning. He is en route to Independence, Inyo county, California, having been retained to defend "Rough" Elliott, whose trial for murder commences on the 7th inst.

The famous Dockstaider Minstrels will appear in Reno on the 11th instant. Dickie Jose is a member of the organization, and the indications are that a crowded house will greet Rose's favorite singer. The box-het will be opened at Nasby's Bazaar this evening.

Miss Maggie and Sadie Wright of Browns District arrived on the train Sunday evening from Elko county, where they have been teaching for the past fifteen months. They speak in the highest terms of Elko county, of its fine crops, fine stock and the social courtesy of its people.

Sam and Jim Stanaway were pleasantly surprised yesterday by the arrival of their father, James Stanaway of Milton, California, who purposes remaining here several weeks. The old gentleman is eighty-two years of age, but is hale and hearty and can still do the padding act on his sons if the occasion presents itself.

John Mendez, in the employ of Robert Jones, the rancher, yesterday amused himself with driving a team through the streets at break-neck speed. After terrorizing pedestrians for nearly an hour he was arrested, and this morning was assessed $15 by Justice Young for violating the town ordinance relating to fast driving.

Dry Goods.

Aaron Layton, who has been in the stock business in Humboldt and Lander counties for many years, and has been a close observer of the weather, tells the Silver State that 1870 was a drier season than the present one. In 1870 it rain fell from February to October, and there was no hay to speak of along the Humboldt. There was another dry season nine years ago, and the Humboldt was not ankle deep in many places.

HISTORY OF WASHOE.

A Work Which Will Prove of Great Benefit to the Country.

The History and Resources of Washoe County, Nevada, published under the auspices of the Nevada Educational Association, is now in press. It will contain forty large pages of interesting matter relative to the history, growth and resources of the county. The work is for free distribution through Nevada, California and the East. It forms part of the State exhibit, and will call the attention of teachers and other visitors to the National Teachers' convention to the fact that our wealth is not only in our mines, but also in our farms, stock, climate, manufactures, fruit, etc.

The work of the teachers should receive the support of our business men, as the measure has for its direct object the advancement of home interests. In Washoe alone alone has this work been faithfully carried out, and if it receives the support it merits from our citizens we will be enabled to say we have the most enterprising teachers in the state. The work has been edited by N. A. Hummel, who will shortly solicit advertisements from our merchants. Every business man in town can afford to give an "ad." of some kind, and thereby put his name before the public. The number of copies issued will depend upon the number of advertisements received and the result will benefit the entire community.

FLYING BULLETS.

Gamblers Indulge in Pistol Practice, Killing Two Men and Wounding Others.

A dispatch from Boise City, Idaho, dated the 2d instant, gives the following account of a lively shooting affray:

A row occurred in Kooms' saloon at Silver Mountain, Boise county, a new mining camp seventy-five miles northeast of here, last Friday night, between William Ninemier, and his brother, alias Wilson, a gambler, on one side, and Tobe Pitts, a gambler, and Pitt Smith on the other side.

Smith was shot dead and Tobe Pitts

OUR NATAL DAY

FITTINGLY OBSERVED ON THE COMSTOCK.

A Successful and Interesting Celebration—Colonel E. H. Lindsay's Oration.

The celebration of the 112th anniversary of our natal day on the Comstock yesterday, was a grand success. Virginia was prettily decorated with bunting and the stars and stripes, and its people vied with each other in hospitably receiving and entertaining the many guests who made the pilgrimage from here. Notwithstanding the counter attraction, the Odd Fellows picnic at Carson, several thousand strangers aided the Virginians with their presence in carrying the celebration to a successful termination, and all departed well pleased with the entertainment afforded. The procession, while not as long as many that have preceded it on the Comstock, was a pleasing sight, and the various organizations as they passed along the line of march were liberally applauded. The Emmett Guards, 65 strong, attired in new and becoming uniforms, were the feature of the parade, the McElroy Opera House band of Reno, attired in black uniforms and white helmets from which waved magnificent red plumes, dividing the honor with them in the matter of appearance.

Other notable features of the parade were Co. A. National Guard of Virginia, 37 strong, a float on which the Ingoldsby drill was operated by miners, the Gold Hill fire department, the Virginia City fire department, the Car of State loaded with pretty misses who waved continuously the stars and stripes, and the Ship of State, manned by a crew of gallant buccaneers, under command of Jeromio, who is styled "the bloodiest pirate that ever ploughed the raging main."

THE EXERCISES.

The exercises at Piper's Opera House were of the most interesting character, and were attentively listened to by a large but not very demonstrative audience. The programs prepared and carried out comprised the following: Introductory remarks by the president of the day, Hon. F. M. Huffaker; prayer, Rev. L. B. Ridgely; reading of the Declaration of Independence, Prof. J. E. Bray; original poem, Miss Daisy M. Lang; oration, Col. H. B. Lindsay of Reno; benediction, Rev. L. B. Ridgely.

THE ORATION.

The orator of the day, Colonel R. H. Lindsay, did not do himself justice in the delivery of the oration, which was not, under the circumstances, unexcused. For a week past he has been drilling his company for the parade, which, coupled with the fact that he unwisely remained in command and walked the streets of Virginia under a scorching sun for hours just prior to delivering it, rendered him in no condition to do himself or his theme justice. As the gallant Colonel himself says, it will read much better than it sounded. It is as follows:

Mr. President, Fellow Citizens, Ladies and Gentlemen.

John L. Wiley, an employee of John L. Wiley, Verdi, was arrested this morning on complaint of his wife, Mary E. Wiley, who alleges that he threatened to do her great bodily injury, accompanying his threats with a liberal display of a six-shooter. Being in fear of her life, the wife proceeded to invoke the aid of the law in subduing her big-lord's appetite for blood. Mr. Wiley will appear before Justice Young to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock for trial, unless the breach is healed before that time.

To Preserve Butter Without Ice.

Put your butter in a small saucer, set this in the deep saucer of a flower-pot; turn the flower-pot upside down over the bowl of butter, plug the hole in the pot with a cork, keep the saucer filled with fresh water, and the evaporation will preserve your butter without ice.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made, and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened itself upon her for seven years, her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night, and with one hit has been miraculously cured. W. D. Sult, druggist, Blyss, India, testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hale, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters. Thousands of others have added their testimony, that the verdict unani-

Unlike any other part of the town, this addition faces the beautiful Truckee River, and Riverside avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide.
